COMMUNITY FAIRS.

Hon. Clarence E. Gilmore of the Willis Point Chronicle is a progressive chap, and one of the real builders of Texas. "A number of communities in East Texas last year held community fairs, among them Troup and Mabank being the most conspicuous for the success of the events held," says Mr. Gilmore. "It strikes the Chronicle as a good thing for this county. It would be better to have a county fair, but a community fair would arouse interest and eventually lead to an exhibit of the products of the county on a larger scale. The community fair, at which the various products of the farm are brought together, gives a general holiday in each year that may be looked forward to with pleasure by both old and young and the interest and rivalry will inspire all to better efforts for the improvement of their products, incidentally causing the development of the county. There is more in emulation than some people are willing to concede and the community fair inspires emulation for the best. There will be a better fusing of interests among the tillers of the soil, an exchange of instruction and seed and arrangements may be made to market their products to better advantage. As a result of a community or county fair a very creditable exhibit could be gotten together to enter at the Dallas Fair, and it would be worth much to the county." There is room at the Fair for the Van Zandt exhibit and all other exhibits. East Texas is fertile, East Texas has the resources, East Texas has the timber and water and fuel and East Texas has cheap land. Its builders should get together and push things. A splendid exhibit at the State Fair of 1910. Push it along.—Dallas Times Herald.

The above question is one that Anderson county should get hold of before the next big state fair. This county could show up with an exhibit that would reflect great credit on its opportunities and resources. The Board of Trade members are the people to head this movement, and it is a work well worth while.

This is one of those days that might be described as splendidly disagreeable.

Twenty-four sets of twins were born in Texas during the month of January. This is a grand old climate.

"Mr. Taft is head of the nation, but Roosevelt is coming back," is an expression that has found much favor in certain republican quarters. You can put your own interpretation on it.

The ground should be pretty well moistened by now. As the saying goes, a wet winter makes a prosperous year, and possibly insures a good water supply for the good old summer time.

A South Carolina editor sends us a copy of his paper to show us that he got the best of a Texas editor in a historical discussion. Tush, Texas has forgotten more history than South Carolina ever heard of.

The defenders of Ballinger are now claiming, as a defense, that he has done nothing criminal in his record as a public officer. If this is the most that can be said in his defense he had best resign and quit the service. Such a defense is a most serious reflection on any public officer.

Some of these days the weather man and his rain barrel are going to offer the propitious hour for the use of the split log drag, and the Herald hopes that some man or company of men hereabouts will prove equal to the hour and make good with a demonstration. He will indeed be "The Man of the Hour."

From newspaper comment it would appear that the Hon. A. B. Davidson is going to meet no very serious opposition as a candidate for re-election as lieutenant governor. Davidson seems to have made good, notwithstanding the various charges brought and not proved against his administration in the senate.

Some of the rude members of the naval committee insist that Peary should submit his full proofs of the discovery of the North Pole. It passes all understanding how some men are doubtful when Peary claims to have nailed the grand old flag to the pole and brought some of the very tacks back with him to prove his assertion.

The idea of organizing an East Texas Industrial Congress is being propagated by Editor Yantis of the Athens Review, who is president of the East Texas Press Association. He proposes that it be formed at Nacogdoches during the meeting of the Press Association in April. East Texas has been decidedly backward in such movements. Its people can organize a political movement with more vim and alacrity than any other people in Texas. Perhaps it is because of this relative indifference to industrial organization that East Texas has been developed much less rapidly than other sections far inferior to it in the way of natural resources. It is estimated that only 25 per cent of the land in East Texas is in cultivation. Perhaps that proportion is not less than it is for the state as a whole. But East Texas offers better than the average opportunity; so that if it is as well developed as is the state as a whole, that fact evidences a deficiency somewhere. We think it is in respect to organized effort; that it is due to its failure to call the attention of a busy world to the fact that for diversified farming it offers opportunities equal to the very best, in or out of Texas.—Dallas News.

STRANGE DUEL IN SICILY

One of the most remarkable duels ever recorded, took place near Palermo, recently, between two rich Sicilian landowners—Sig. Lobianco and Sig. Ardito. The two men seated themselves opposite to each other in a large four-wheeled carriage, and having ordered the coachman to drive at full gallop began to fire revolvers at each other. When the carriage was stopped Lobianco stumbled out mortally wounded, while Ardito was found lying dead on the floor of the vehicle. The cause of the duel was a love affair.

BABE FORCED ON COMPANY

The traction company of Wilkes-barre, Pa., caused William Gordon to be sent to jail for throwing a stone through a car window. His wife pleaded for his release, but in vain. Then she went to the traction offices and placed her baby on the counter. "Well, you'll have to support the child," she said. "I cannot."

Then she left so quickly they could not catch her. The embarrassed officials placed the child with the United Charities and had Gordon released.

ODD MEMORIAL TO MUSICIAN.

In the cemetery at Castle Caldwell, Lough Ern, County Fermanagh, Ireland, is to be seen the strange memorial known as "The Fiddler's Tombstone." It is five feet high and four inches thick and the inscription reads: "To the memory of Denis McCabe, fiddler, who fell out of the St. Patrick barge belonging to Sir James Caldwell, Bt., and count of Milan, and was drowned off this point, August ye 13th, 1770.—Beware ye fiddlers of ye fiddler's fate. Nor tempt ye deep lest ye repent too late. You ever have been deemed to water goes. Then shun ye lake till it with whisky flows. On firm land only exercise your skill; there you may play and safely drink your fill. D. D. D." The letters D. D. D. are a polite contraction of "Dennis died drunk."

MONUMENT TO DOG HERO

For saving the life of his ten-year-old son a gentleman of Trenton, N. J., had a dog buried with all ceremony recently in a casket covered with flowers, and has erected a monument over the grave. The dog was accompanying the lad to the market when he stepped directly in front of an express train and would have been ground to pieces had not the dog grasped him by the leg. The engineer had not time to shout a warning, but the sudden action of the dog made the boy look up in time to leap for his life. The dog was hit by the engine and killed on the spot.

'Time's Flight Turned Backward' SAGE AND SULPHUR Made Her Look Twenty Years Younger

READ MRS. HERRICK'S SWORN STATEMENT

STATE OF NEW YORK } ss
COUNTY OF MONROE }
ROCHESTER, N. Y.
Nancy A. Herrick, being duly sworn, deposes and says: When I was a girl, I had a head of heavy, long, dark brown hair which was the envy of my schoolmates, and which attracted the attention and remarks of strangers. As I grew older, my hair commenced to come out, just a little at first, but gradually more and more, and then began to turn gray. I was induced by the many good reports I had heard of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy to try a bottle. My hair was quite thin and gray when I began using Sage and Sulphur, and you can imagine my satisfaction when I found that it was fast coming back to its natural condition, being thicker, darker and more glossy than it had been for a long time. I continued to use Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is now as heavy, dark and smooth as when I was a girl of sixteen. It is now four years since I commenced using Sage and Sulphur, and my hair is still in splendid condition.

Sworn to before me this 14th day of July, 1902.
